Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to provide guidance regarding the date from which disability benefits (i.e. disability pension, disability award, pain and suffering compensation, critical injury benefit), allowances (i.e. attendance allowance, clothing allowance, or exceptional incapacity allowance), and/or prisoner of war (POW)/detention benefit compensation becomes payable.

Policy

Disability Pension - General

1. For the purpose of determining the effective date of entitlement to a disability pension, the date on which an applicant initiates an application with any representative of the Department will be considered the effective date. Such contact may be made by telephone, a personal visit or in writing. In cases of written contact, the Department will accept the date on which the notification was received. As per the Application to the Minister policy, all the requirements of an application should be met and the supporting documents should be received by the Department within a reasonable period of time.
2. In cases where the applicant initiates an application through a representative of a Veteran's organization, the effective date of entitlement to a disability pension will be the date the application is received by any office of the Department.
3. When necessary to clarify entitlement, a claim may be initiated by the Department. The date of application will be the date on which the Department identifies a basis for the ruling.
4. In no case shall the effective date of a disability pension pre-date the date of the first application. In addition, the effective date of a disability pension cannot be made retroactive more than three years from the date of decision.

Disability Pension - Assessment/Reassessment

5. The effective date of an assessment for a newly pensioned condition will be the effective date of the entitlement award. See paragraphs 1-4 above.
6. An increase in an assessment is an award provided for under the Pension Act and a request for a reassessment is an application for an award. The effective date of an increase in assessment resulting from a reassessment request is determined pursuant to section 39 of the Pension Act.

7. Decreases in assessment resulting from reassessments are effective the date of next payment.
8. For Department initiated reassessments, the Department may determine the effective date based on the circumstances of the case.
9. Matters of effective date respecting increases or decreases in assessments based on departmental reviews on the Minister's own motion due to errors of fact or law will be dealt with on a case by case basis with the Department of Justice as required.
10. The effective date of an increase in assessment resulting from a departmental review based on new evidence will be the effective date awarded in the decision which is under review, as long as the new evidence which pertains to the condition at the time of the original assessment has been provided in a timely fashion (i.e. within 6 months of the original assessment decision). Evidence provided after the 6 month period will not be considered new evidence for the purposes of a departmental review. Rather the evidence will be accepted as an application for a reassessment and the effective date will be pursuant to section 39 of the Pension Act (see paragraph 6 of this policy).
